Dedication

Yes, we are the young Crusaders, the youth of today, and it is through our years at Memorial that we have determined the values that will influence our future.

Our generation is strong and our lives will not be impotent. Idealistically we leave, endeavoring to widen the boundaries of peace and understanding.

To convey these feelings in our yearbook took a great amount of understanding, creativity and work. We pay tribute to the one person who has guided us in this effort, our yearbook advisor. Her unselfish dedication is evident in this and previous yearbooks and has been appreciated. With this in mind, the Senior Class dedicates Viator '69 to Miss Ruff.

Yes, we are the young Crusaders. There need be no explanation of what these pages represent, for herein lies the unity and spirit of the Class of '69.

Superintendent of Schools

May I take this opportunity to congratulate the Class of 1969 on their noteworthy academic achievement.

It has become increasingly apparent that young people across this nation will enjoy a greater voice in framing the direction of our country in the coming years. To shoulder this responsibility successfully, you will be called upon to exert independence of thought and to dedicate yourselves to the welfare of all. This indeed is a mammoth task. It can only be achieved through self-discipline, self-improvement, and a continuous search for a better way of life.

You have my best wishes for every success in all future undertakings.

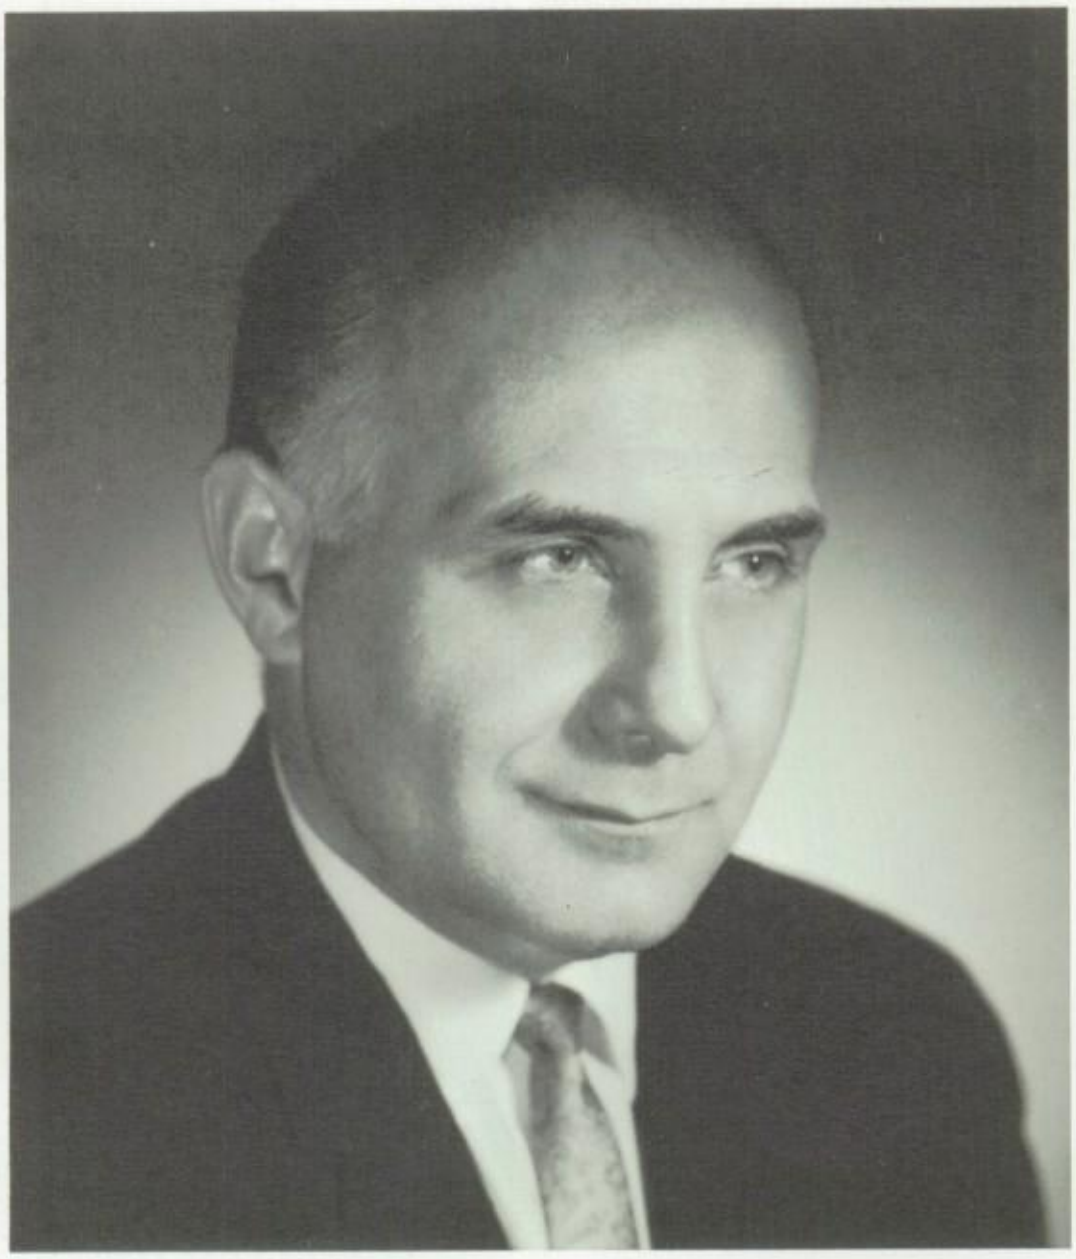
CONGRATULATIONS TO THE COACHES AND THE MEMBERS OF THE BASKETBALL AND WRESTLING TEAMS FOR A FINE DISPLAY OF SCHOOL SPIRIT DURING THE 1969 SEASON

Standing: Mr. William May, Mr. Michael Scarpa, Dr. Frank Marlow, Superintendent of Schools; Mr. Edward Tirello, Secretary; Mr. Jack White, Mr. Robert Stankiewicz, Mr. Frank Loveland.

Principal



To The Class of 1969:

Every man is worth just so much as the things are worth about which he busies himself.

Through the ages the great wisdom reflected in these words of Marcus Aurelius, the revered Roman philosopher-emperor and teacher, has been echoed again and again to tell us that if we would be great and good we must focus our attention on the things of life that are great and good.

It is probably true that our society has become materialistic, and success is often measured by what worldly goods a man acquires. To have such a goal is short-sighted. What belongs to us is not nearly as important as to what we belong. There is great reward and satisfaction in being identified with a worthy cause and in belonging to some purposeful movement. All of us influence history even though we may not realize the part we play in the process.

As you travel on life's road, make your allegiance and loyalty to something that represents the highest and the very best you know. Busy yourself only with worthwhile pursuits. This can be your part in making this a better world and in making your life a meaningful one.

To each of you go my sincerest wishes for a happy, long, and prosperous life.

Dear Class:

Our high school career has now come to a close; only our memories and knowledge remain with us. The four years we have spent here at Memorial have been rewarding ones. What we have gained from our experiences has had a profound effect on our lives and the insight we have acquired will serve us well in the years to come. Our class has been one of distinction, and all of us are destined to go far in life. Soon we will part, each of us seeking his own way to success. For some of us the path will be long and enigmatic, while for others it will be short and straight.

I sincerely hope that the path of each member of our class will be marked by happiness, love, and learning.
